THE AIM OF THE SEMINAR

The areas of knowledge of Private International Law of the Universities Rovira i Virgili (Tarragona), Barcelona and Lleida have organised the 1 International Seminar on rights in rem in the European Union: general aspects and international jurisdiction. This seminar seeks, on the one hand, to define the concept of rights in rem in the framework of European Private International Law and of Comparative Law, and, on the other hand, to identify the problematic aspects arising from the characterisation of such a concept in terms of both the delimitation of the legal instruments applicable to this matter, and of its application in the Spanish legal system as the representative of a State in which several systems of law coexist. Moreover, in terms of jurisdiction, the Seminar will also address the problems of the delimitation of the rule of jurisdiction applicable under Regulation (EU) 1215/2012.

In this regard, this First Seminar will be divided into four panels dealing with three major topics:

- The approach to the concept of rights in rem in European Comparative Private Law and European Private International Law
- Rights in rem in the Spanish legal system and the state's internal conflict of laws
- Rights in rem and international jurisdiction under Regulation (EU) 1215/2012

SEMINAR COMMUNICATIONS

Seminar communications for any of the abovementioned topics are invited. Communications accepted will be presented in person during the seminar for approximately five minutes each.

Applications for submitting a communication proposal must include the following information: author's personal information and academic position; topic selected; title of the paper and an abstract of between 300 and 500 words in length. Proposals for communications should be sent to: mireia.eizaguirre@urv.cat

Communications will be selected depending on their relevance to the topic chosen, quality and originality.

The deadline for submitting communication proposals is 12 September, 2022. The acceptance of proposals will be decided by the academic committee as from 30 September, 2022.
